

Ricardo Figueroa

Software Developer

Motivated Software Developer with experience in management, finance, and sales. My background in leadership with a focus on delivering exceptional service assisted in fine tuning my ability to find solutions that satisfy my customers and this drove the desire to increase my technical skills. I welcome the opportunity to leverage my skills to help my future employer find innovative new solutions that elevate their end-users experience.

Development Projects

DevSplash Capstone project

Full-stack web application built with Java, Spring Boot, MySQL, Javascript, HTML. Allows Developers to collaborate on projects and Ideas with each other. This app also allows you to request to join a project that it's being featured on one of the members' pages or on the Projects tab. This was a four person project.

MovieApp

Used Javascript and Ajax request to allow users to search, add, and delete movie information by name, category, actor/actress, etc. This application was created with the user in mind for a more in depth, but easier to use experience. This was a pair programming effort that also utilized Java and MySql for the Backend functionality.

OpenWeatherApp

Combined Mapbox API and OpenWeatherApp with Javascript to allow users to see a 5 day weather forecast. This app also has a search bar that allows you to go to a different address and provides information about the address. This was a single person project.

Coffee Project

Created a Javascript application that allows the user to search, add, and delete a coffee roast of their choosing. We also used Bootstrap and CSS to style and organize our code. This was a three person project.
