CHELSEA ROLLAND

< SOFTWARE DEVELOPER />

Full-Stack web developer who is enthusiastic about developing applications that prepare businesses with the proper tools to face and evolve in an ever-changing environment. My past experience in consulting hotels and working with their teams to manage revenue has given me insight into the efficiency of data-driven tools and technologies in making informed decisions. I thrive in a team environment that promotes collaborative effort in solving problems, and I embrace life-long learning that I will apply to my personal and professional development.

DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS

YumRando
A full-stack web application that assists undecided users in deciding which restaurant they want to attend by incorporating a randomize restaurant selector based on location, generating custom lists of restaurants, and utilizing the rating feature.

Movie Application

A single page movie application, built using JavaScript that allows users to add, rate, edit, and delete movies. Contributions include jQuery for functionality and BootStrap for styling.

Weather Map

A web application written with JavaScript and using jQuery to integrate two separate APIs (Open Weather Map and Mapbox) to work in conjunction to give a 5-day weather forecast and location on a map. This is completed by using AJAX requests based on user input.
